TO INTRODUCE

MYSELF

I'm a tech guru with passion for cyber security and solutions that blow the socks off users! My passion for tech started at a young age with curiosity bridging the gap from breaking systems to improving, securing and creating them. It was always clear that I would find myself in the fast paced tech industry, I thought I'd kick it up a gear in security, this is exactly where I want to be!

I focus on putting my passions and skills into my work whilst striving to always be on top of new tech trends and threats molding the tech landscape. I use my experience and sight over inovative market solutions across the globe to implement better solutions empowering and protecting business. I look forward to connecting with you!
